ESPRIT LOGISTICS DELIVERS TWO LNG GAS TANKS

Esprit Logistics in South Korea were appointed with the task of delivering two large LNG gas tanks for Samsung Heavy Industries. The gas tank transportation from China to South Korea is part of a shipbuilding project with Wartsila Gas Solutions AS.

The two gas tanks weighed a total of 463.19tn with the heaviest unit weighing 231tn and measuring 3.013 x 1.395 x 1.398m. Altogether, the volume of the shipment was 11,750cbm.

Despite the truly impressive size of this equipment, Esprit's project logistics experts were able to smoothly collaborate with the customer to create a transparent moving strategy that drew on comprehensive multimodal oversized freight transportation by chartering a suitable self-propelled barge (heavy load carrier) for the shipment.

Assistant Manager at Esprit, Hannah Lee explains: "One of the most difficult challenges in the shipment was transporting the gas tanks with the tidal difference at the loading port in China of Nantong, Zhangjiagang. Because of this, it was hard for us to berth the vessel at the very beginning. In addition, the water height changed so quickly, we had to stop the loading work several times and draw the vessel out to anchorage to wait for the proper time to berth again. Also, as the LNG tanks are sensitive pieces of industrial equipment, moving it involved clearing several regulatory hurdles. Therefore, Esprit worked with local agencies and authorities to solve the issues with our expertise by examining water depth and setting berthing times based on our numerous experiences in heavy lift transportation."

"Another challenge was arranging the lashing work for the tanks with proper stoppers to keep balance. Thanks to our careful organization and coordination among the shipper, carriers, and receivers, the equipment was delivered without any technical issues or delays."

The sailing from the loading port of Nantong in China to Samsung's shipyard in Geoje (South Korea) took only 3 days with direct sailing despite the unique port conditions.

The experience with the project logistics specialists at Esprit Logistics gave Samsung the confidence that they can manage their freight, resolve problems in real time, and provide the timely results that this move required. Samsung was very satisfied with the overall performance from Esprit and all cargo arrived in good condition, in the proper order and ready to get to work.

DC LOGISTICS BRASIL HANDLE 56' YACHT

DC Logistics Brasil have handled another interesting project – a 56' yacht loaded on a water/water: "Due to the cargo size and mainly the height, the yacht couldn't reach the terminal by truck so the cradle was delivered by the gate and the yacht by water. The loading from the water was 3 days before the vessel's arrival at Itajaí Port in Brazil and we were in charge of the whole team including the divers. In about 3 hours, the yacht was loaded from the water, dropped and lashed on the cradle and tarped. The customs clearance was done the same day and the vessel carrier loaded on a bed of flat racks on a container vessel as photographed.

Upon arrival at Cartagena Port, our excellent Project Cargo Network (PCN) partner in Colombia, Anker

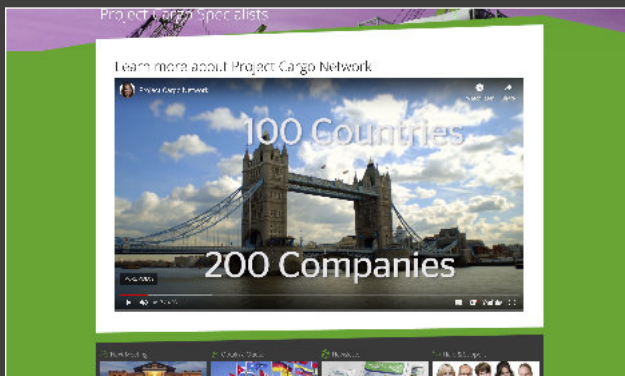

Logística y Carga reliably supported us and the yacht was unloaded on the quay, removed from the cradle and dropped on the water after customs clearance."

- Cargo Details: 56' Azimut Yacht (New)
- Dimensions: 15.32 x 4.67 x 8.20m
- Weight: 23,000kg
